

Labview Installation Instructions and Included Packages

Many users have questioned the software requiring a serial number. This should not be an issue as LabView is a campus site license. Below are the instructions to help guide the user through the installation process to prevent them from a serial number prompt.

1. Please deselect the option "Select and activate products based on my serial numbers(Internet Connection Required)" as seen below.

2. Select your package on the following screen, Labview Package-English (Or other language) - Click on that package and continue.

3. There is a box for a serial number after user credentials are inputted. This box is not necessary to be filled. From here you should be able to continue your installation without an issue.
